

Alex Morgan

PRODUCT DESIGNER

alex@example.com / Brooklyn, NY / alex.example.com

Thoughtful digital experiences, made clear.

I turn complex workflows into useful, considered products.

My practice connects research, interaction design, and systems thinking.

EXPERIENCE

Northstar Studio

Senior Product Designer 2023 - Present

Designed a shared workspace for teams to read, discuss, and decide.

Led the reader experience from first sketch through launch.

Built a coherent navigation system across documents and conversations.

Partnered with engineering on fluid, interruptible interactions.

Outline Works

Product Designer 2020 - 2023

Helped small teams bring ambitious ideas into the world.

Shipped a calmer project space with a clearer information hierarchy.

Created reusable patterns for complex, document-heavy workflows.

SELECTED WORK

A little more room to think

A document workspace that keeps the conversation close to the work.

Research / Interaction design / Design systems

Every detail, connected

A flexible library for people who collect, connect, and create.

Product strategy / Prototyping / Front-end collaboration

EDUCATION

School of Visual Studies

BFA, Communication Design 2016 - 2020

Selected projects

ALEX MORGAN

From a small interaction to the whole experience.

01 / THE READING ROOM

One quiet place for the document and the conversation around it.

A persistent shell lets people move between files without losing context.

Tabs preserve each document's position and magnification.

A floating composer keeps the next question within reach.

The interface gets out of the way when the work needs more space.

02 / SMALL MOMENTS

Transitions connect states, rather than calling attention to themselves.

Responsive motion gives feedback while respecting reduced-motion settings.

TOOLS & PRACTICE

Prototyping, accessible interaction design, and design systems.

A little patience. A lot of curiosity.